Official Report of Operations East of Liao Yang July Fourth - Gernitsky's Column Dislodges a Company of the Advance Guard and Almost Annihilates It. Kuroki Claims a Victory.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

T. PETERSBURG, July 5. [-By Atlantic Cable.] The General Staff has received the following dispatch from Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff, the Chief of Staff of Gen. Kouropatkin,

"On July 3 the advance guard of the Russian force operating east of Liso Yang occupied a position at Lang Tse Pass. Toward evening of the same day our scouts ascertained that a detachment of the enemy's advance guard, 1500 strong, had occupied the villages of Ekhavuan and Tcha Kuman Za on our front, the main force having remained in Fen Shui and Motien passes. At this moment we discovered the movement of a Japanese detachment, consisting of a battalion of infantry, to turn our left flank position in the Yang Tse Pass, in the direction of Liao Dian Sian. In order to check this movement, a force consisting of five companies of infantry, two detachments of mounted Hussars and half a company of Cossacks, was sent forward in the direction of this threatened point.

"In order to learn the strength of the enemy's position in front of Lang Tse Pass the commander of the detachment ordered out a reconngitering party of ten companies, which was sent in the direction of Ekhavuan, under the command of Col. Letschilsky. With a view of making a demonstration, insuring the return of Letschilsky's detachment, three companies under Lieut. Col. Garnitsky, marched to Mahoumizza, about a mile and a half south of Ekhavuan, the crossing of the roads leading to Sin Khi and the Lok River passes.
DISLODGED THE JAPS.

"Firing began about 1:30 p.m. July 4. Garnitsky's column reached the cross roads and dislodged a company of the enemy's advance guard, which was almost annihilated. Simultaneously, Letschilsky's column dislodged the enemy's advance posts without firing a shot and approached the foot of the heights, which were surmounted by a temple. The temple is less than a mile east of Ekhavuan, where, although exposed to a heavy frontal and flank fire, our troops dashed forward and dislodged the Japanese from heir intrenchments and occupied the pass. As the enemy was preparing to deliver a frontal and flank attack, our column then retired, as previously instructed. Three companies of Garnitsky's force occupied the position which they had been ordered to secure.

"When Letschilsky's force began to withdraw, the enemy opened a heavy fire from the heights. In spite of this, the column retired in perfect order. Brave Letschilsky remained continnally on the firing line, and directed the column with remarkable ability and coolness. He was the last to retire, with his chief of staff and adjutant. Garnitsky's column behaved with equal brilliancy and coolness, carrying out their task with no sign of "Our casualties were Letschilsky, bruised and wounded; Col. Peppalow, Lieut.-Col. Trakhemovsky, Capt. Solieff, Lleutenants Markoff, Latkine, Bobroskovsky and Kozine, Second Capt. Palic and several officers wounded and 200 soldiers killed or wounded.

"I observed the fighting with my staff from the Ekhavuan tower, and so can personally testify to the conduct of the troops. I cannot pass in silence the remarkable devotion of the surgeons and the chaplain who attended the wounded under a hot fire, and even helped to carry them off the field. All the wounded were removed.

OCCUPY LIAN DIAN SIAN.

"On the morning of July 3 our reinforcements occupied Lian Dian Sian. One soldier was killed during the fighting. The same afternoon a detachment of the enemy, consisting of two attalions and six squadrons, with six machine guns, advanced and attacked our outposts lying south of the valley of the River Kho, who retreated under the vigorous fire of the enemy. The officer commanding our advance cavalry advanced at 2:30 p. m. with a detachment, and at the same time the enemy placed machine guns on the heights northwest of Dounschekhedja, and their infantry occupied the outskirts of the forest near the village. Our horse battery retreated on the position at Daoasischja, near the railroad, being covered by mounted dragoons and frontier guards. Under the fire of our artillery and rifles the enemy quickly evacuated their position and retreated toward

"Our cavalry pursued them until they reached an intrenched position occupied by a strong force of the enemy. The enemy's principal forces are at present concentrated at Vandiaputze, in the direction of Haicheng, and at Schikouyo, about ten miles west of South Yen. on the road to Kaichou.

"Reconnoissances on July 3 discovered that the enemy wa fortifying in Tai Pass."

Late tonight there is being held in the Planters'Hotel what is supposed to the Planters'Hotel what is supposed to be a secret conference-of anti-Parker men. It is not secret, however, as all St. Louis knows that behind those locked doors plots are being made to kill off Parker, and that new plans for putting any candidate in the field against him are being thought about. MET MIKE TARPEY.

But earlier in the day, there had been another secret anti-Parker meeting, and when the newspaper correspondents went around to find out about if they were met by Mike Tarpey. Chairman of the California delegation, who was in charge. Mike Tarpey said there was sentiment against Parker, and that it was crystallizing, as against Parker, and he disappeared into an inner room, warning all true Americans not to leave until he emerged again. When he did come out, he had with him a great number of copies of a typewritten statement, which he solemnly distributed to an anxious public.

This statement went on to state that it had become apparent to those who had attended the conference—Mike Tarpey was mighty careful not to say just who had attended the conference—that the nomination of Judge rarker was impossible. There were more words than that in the statement, he gave out, but that was all it said. He did not say that Bryan and Heirst were giving one last, dying gasp. Everybody was to reverent to suggest any such thing to him, for Tarpey looked solemn. It was the first time in his whole life that he had gone through the solemn ordeal of giving out typewritten statements, and it hurt.

PARKER'S PEOPLE WORKING.

While all this childish nonsense has been going on, Parker's managers have been at work all day in their quiet way putting on the screws here and there. Itning things up for their candidate's nomination. They do not say or claim that he will be nominated on the first ballot, because there are several States that will want to cast their first ballots for favorite sons and these plans may not safely be interfered with, as all experienced politicians know.

TURNER'S BOOM.

TURNER'S BOOM. TURNER'S BOOM.

The boom of George Turner of the State of Washington for Vice-President has been growing all day, although several other candidates have been talked about. Kern of Indiana, who one time ran for governor of that State and was beaten, was mentioned a good deal today. The Parker people, however, seem to have committed themselves to Turner, and if they are strong enough to nominate Parker they surely will be strong enough to nominate Turner as his running mate. Turner himself wants the nomination and says so.

SYDNEY (C. B.) July 5.—The strike situation here is critical, but the city officials express the opinion that the militia now on duty will be able to hold the disorderly element in check. The Sydney field batter—and a detachment from the Forty-ninth Highland Regiment are patroling the Dominion Iron and Steel Company's property.

A new danger which concerns this section is the possible extension of the strike to the collieries of the Domfinion Coal Company.

The military and the strikers clashed today, when the crowd around the steel works refused to let Director Frazer of the works, a sales agent and the super-intendent, reach the gates. A squad of soldiers was called, and it was only by vigorous use of the bayonet that a passageway was made. It is apparent that the strikers are masters of the situation outside the works.

LONDON, July 5.—The passing of another day with no news of the missing boats of the ill-fated Danish steamer Norge, which foundered off Rockall reef, 290 miles from the Scottish mainland, on June 28, lessens the hope that a few more out of the long list of victims might have been counted among the survivors. [BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

ABERDEEN, July L.—Another boatload of seventeen survivors of the ill-fated Danish steamer Norge were landed at Aberdeen tonight by the steam trawier Largo Bay. Six hundred and twenty-seven persons are missing, it is reported.

The contingent now being cared for at Aberdeen consists of twelve passengers, the third mate of the Norge, the quartermaster steward, a lamp trimmer and one of the crew. They drifted at the mercy of the Atlanto for six days. When their water and food was gone and when the occupants were almost too exhausted to hope, the fishing boat hove in sight. This was on July 4, when the boat was about thirty miles off St. Klida. Those rescued had eked out an existence on two biscuits per day. When they started from the ill-fated ship there was only one small cask of fresh water in the boat.

They weathered against a gale and continued as best they might, striving to reach the coast of Scotland against the heavy sea. From stretches of life belts they constructed a crude sail. The men had scarcely strength enough to hold the oars.

When the survivors were dragged on the trawier, the fishermen were obliged to forcibly prewent them from eating and drinking too much. Many of those rescued have severe wounds sustained in jumping from the deck of the sinking ship. Their legis and arms are swollen from exposure, and from the sail water. On their arrival at Aberdee nthe survivors were taken to the Sailors' Home. The third mate states that three other boats started with that rescued by the Largo Bay. One of these contained thirty-two persons, including several women and children. Another boat had fifteen men, with the second mate in charge. The third boat had ten men on board. The survivors parted company with the three boats July 3. For these boats the British gunboat Leda, the government fishing cutter Jackal, as eleasmer chartered by the Danish Consul at Glasgow and several other vessels' are diligently searching.

And here, by the same token, ar they come tonight, within the gates of this swaggering metropolis of the "Show me" State. They're here from "Show me" State. They're here from Vermont, mind you, and States like those where Democrats are as scarce as hen's teeth and as barren of hope as Cape Cod is of leaping tunas. They're down from Puget Sound, Alaska, from under the shadow of the Selhirka and the snow capped summits of the Cascades. There's a big body of them from Pennsylvania, headed by a bons named Guffey, worth heaven knows how many million dollars. It is a question which is the greater anomaly; why the handful of Democrats who are in Pennsylvania should ever need a boss, or why a man with so much at stake financially as Guffey has can take chances on being a Democrat. And here, also, are the hosts of them, that come from Arkansas and Mississippi and all the warm, languorous South, where it means something to be South, where it means something to be a Democrat, and a man can stop a aligner from voting at the point of a shotgun and makes him ride in a jim

WHAT THEY'LL DO.

It will be asked then, what are the emograts going to do? Well, they re going to do lots of things, and especially will they do these things to each other. In the first place, they are going to nominate for the office of President of the United States a judge from York State. His Parker, He is a man who has sen know to talk in all his life, BUT-THAT PLATFORM.

BUT—THAT PLATFORM.

When this modern Silenus is put up or the suffrages of a people who like eir Presidents to be at least alive, sen some nice, little, round-headed an will be selected as his running ate. But, before these nominations as effected, you will remember that platform is to be adopted. And, oh, sarly beloved, it is then that the fun ill begin. The Democratic party in its throst of making a platform in its year of our Lord will be someling to awe the gods on high ympus and cause the angels in aven to weep. What are they to? Will they recognize the wisdom our present financial policy, made cure by Republican statesmanship, will they reaffirm their belief in a free and unlimited colunge of silver? Will they declare for free ade, as they would dearly love to, or will they make a foxy bluff for sere tariff revision? What will they y about Cuba, the Panama Canal at the other issues that were carried the other issues that were carried success by the Republican party, spite of Democratic opposition? no one turn here for answer to se questions, for of all people who canow the least about what is to be lone it is these Democratic delegates nemselves. But everybody can be usured of one thing, and it is that when those who are in control submit heir platform other fellows will go o amashing it with seven different dads of axes.

Tonight, it appears beyond any oubt or question that this conven-ion will nominate Alton Brooks arker of New York for President. Parker of New York for President. When this result is accomplished, two langs will follow in natural sequence, amely, the return of David Bennett fill to ascendent power in Demoratic councils and the total eliminates of William Jennings Bryan from use same. As a matter of fact, the hanged conditions in the fortunes of less two rival leaders is perfectly brarent at this moment. Hill is totath the oracle sought out by everyphy.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) ST. LOUIS, July 5.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The platform that will be adopted by this convention will be, according to all present indications, one of the most wabbly structures ever set up for grown men to stand upon. There are too many carpenters at work upon it, and, worst of all, William Jennings Bryan and three or four of his heuchmen will have places on the Resolution Com-mittee, and will be able to interject sufficient foolishness into the plat-form to queer it with all thinking writing the platform that it is ped to have the convention adopt, hoped to have the convention and the but there will be violent opposition to his plans. John Sharp Williams wrote the platform for the Mississippi Democrats, in State convention assembled. It contained language with the business of the money question. and ratios, but did not advocate either silver or gold, and failed to mention any ratio. Some Democrats think that it would be a good money plank put into the national platform, but put into the national platform, but more are in favor of saying something definite.

These two conflicting interests have been scrapping away all day, and tonight it is stated by men who appear to be wise, that the money plank will say that, whereas Nature has butted into the game and caused gold to be produced in such enormous quantities, there is no present necessity for talking about the ratio between gold and silver, because there is sufficient gold to furnish a basis for the circulating medium of mankind. In other words, it appears probable that the Democratic party will get together and say that if Nature had not been so foolish as to supply so much gold, the silver question would be the riproaring political question this year. As it is, Nature having intervened, there is no need of trying to make the silver question a issue.

BRYAN DOES NOT AGREE.

BRYAN DOES NOT AGREE.

Bryan does not agree to this view, and will fight it. Anyway, the money plank will be a meaningless straddle, designed to please everybody, and probably pleasing nobody but its framers. When it comes to trusts, the Democrats are more split up than they are on the money question, and on this matter Bryan says that he will fight to the death. New York Democrats do not favor going very strong against trusts, and Hill, Pat McCarren and the bunch of Democrats who have at least a speaking acquaintance with Wall Street are warning their followers that if they get too noisy against the trusts, Wall Street will not shell out for Parker's campaign.

BELMONT KICKS.

Of course, August Belmont, who can go all through Wall Street with his eyes blindfolded, kicks vigorously against any strong anti-trust plank. Bryan and his men, and the men from the Middle West generally, demand that the trust plank be a regular, old-fashioned trust-buster, and panic producer, and they will have so much more strength on this than they have on money that there is a pretty fight in sight. Bryan insists that to make a moderate plank simply declaring for trust regulation would be to copy the Republican plank, and he will demand and make one of the fights of his life for a plank that will blow up, bust and otherwise destroy all the trusts.

HOKE SMITH ON NEGROES.

Hoke Smith, who was Grover Cleveland's ringmaster-general, has Cleveland's ringmaster-general, has brought with him from Georgia a plank on the negro question. It declares that the Democrats believe in a united country, without regard to race, but that all race questions and all suffrage questions must be left to the States themselves to decide. This plank, or one like it, will be adopted, and the Democrats will try to make an issue out of the negro question.

The tariff plank will be reasonably conservative, not quite going so far as to declare for tariff for revenue only, but coming so close to that as to eliminate, it is said, all protection with a view to developing American industries.

ATTACKS REPUBLICANS.

The balance of the platform will be an attack upon Republican administration policies in general. Corruption in office will be attacked; there will be a bunch of guff about usurpation of power; some mild comments against imperialism, and all the rest of it. All these things, however, will be toned down to meet the views of Belmont, Hill and Pat McCarren, who jointly control, and whose ears are keen to the gleeful note of the stock ticker in a bull market.

THE FIELD A POOR SECOND AS THE CONVENTION OPENS.

Review of the Situation-Beaten many — Prominent Politicians Who Now Rule the Party of the Tiger and the Long-eared Mule.

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—On the eve of the Democratic National Convention, the prospect is that Judge Alton B. Parker of New York will be nominated.

Where, a week ago, there was doubt, uncertainty, sparring for position, parleying for time, factional scheming and manipulation to overthrow the favorite, it is now the foregone conclusion that the field will come in a poor second. Not only does it appear that the control of the nomination for first place will be in the hands of those Democrats who were in the minority in 1896 and again in 1996, but that they will select the nominee's running mate and dominate the platform on which the race will be made. In defiance of such handicaps as were created by the ambitious friends of Gorman, Cleveland, Gray, Olney, McClellan, and favorites sons who had followings that divided the conservative columns, this element which advanced the claims of Democratic rehabilitation struggled against the combined opposition of Bryan, representing the ruling Democratic force in the last two Presidential contests; and the personal campaign conducted sby William R. idential contests, and the personal campaign conducted rby William R. Hearst.

Throughout the week, the Parker forces received material, accessions from one candidate or another who threatened to supply strength for the conservatives being eliminated, until the opinion is now confessedly in the minority sind seemingly too unorganized to prevent a fighting front. The band-wagon seats are in such demand that the nomination is confidently predicted on the second ballot; and the surprise would be small if the first was decisive.

Though the result of the contest for the Presidential momination seems to be as good as settled, the spirit which moved factions to war against each other has not been so far removed that the convention will be lacking in enthusiasm or interest. The changed positions of those who are in power now and those who controlled four and eight years ago is attracting wide attentin from delegates and persons whi are assembled as spectators. William J. Bryan is the most picturesque figure. Twice the candidate of his party for President, but running on a platform forced upon the nominating conventions by his compelling personality and which robbed him of harmonious narty fealty, he is in the position of feat Parker, but the struggle is pitifully in vain. That William J. Bryan is lost in the web of his own wearing seems as certain at this hour as anything mortal can be. And all this is to show what fools some mortals can be, the which will be now more amply proven as these eventrul days follow upon each other.

Tomorrow, the convention opens. Then will there be fireworks and plenty of them.

THEIR TURN NOW.

There are many prominent politicians participating in the convention who were compelled to submit to the will of Bryan is the last two conventions who are taking unaffected satisfaction in the fact that they are today able to dictate terms. David R. Hill of New York, Ben Cable and John P. Hopkins of Illinois, former Senator Smith of New Jersey, Patrick Collins of Boston, Hoke Smith of Georgia and Bourke Cockran of New York are among these. On the other hand, there are many persons taking minor parts in the proceedings for no other reason than they held too much power in 1896 and 1900. Many of these who stood by Bryan then are not with him now. Some have returned to the conservatives, and others are watching in silence the working out of the party programme.

It is certain that many persons, disappointed in their inability to exercise their share of authority in the ticket-making, will take up the platform discussion and advance ideas as widely diverging as those presented in the dosens of the State convention platforms offered for the convention of the national convention.

The New York delegation is active in the platform question, and the Bryan forces are equally alert. While it is unlikely that any effort will be made to reaffirm the Kansas City and Chicago money planks, it is deemed improbable that an attempt will be made to declare for the gold standard. Therefore both factions have their idea as to what the harmonizing planks will be.

masses like. The making of Presidential candidates is their role, while platforms are left to the men of letters. Likewise, the nomination for Vice-President has not been taken up seriously. It has been talked in the lobbles, but no expression has been received from the real leaders, and, until some indication comes from that quarter, the tieket will not center for long in any one way. It appears to make no difference to the hotel lobby ticket-maker that many of the persons suggested have eliminated themselves from discussion.

BRYAN BUTTS IN.

W. J. Bryan, who yesterday offered to support Pattison of Pennsylvania, was today giving encouragement to the friends of George B. McClellan.

The day before the convention broke hot and murky. For the first time the streets and hotels took on a pre-convention air. Easily morning trains brought in belated delegations and marching clubs, and the hotel lobbies and diningrooms developed scenes of congested crowds and accompanying discomfort. There was some goasip about the hotel lobbies that several of the favorite sons would withdraw during the day, but this has not taken any definite shape at this hour. The Parker managers said last night that they hoped the instructed States would vote on the first ballot for their candidates, but the action of Pennsylvania is admittedly a serious blow to the efforts of the "favorite sons," and this morning the air was full of suggestions that Hearst, Olney and Wall should take steps to relieve the delegates instructed for them. Whether anything of this kind will be done remains to be seen.

The Parker men are confident that the New York man will show a clear majority on the first ballot, and that following the precedent of all former Democratic national conventions this show-ing will immediately bring into line a sufficient number of States to give him the necessary two-thirds of the total vote of the convention. Such a result, it is urged, would be simply following the historic record of the party at their national conventions.

GORMAN NOT IN IT.

GORMAN NOT IN IT. GORMAN NOT IN IT.

It is practically conceded that the Gorman vote, as a result of Pennsylvania's action, will be cast on the initial ballot for Parker. If this is followed by like action on the part of any other recognised candidates, then the result may prove, as some of the leaders assert, his assured nomination before the convention assembles tomorrow.

"Senator Gorman has never been formally in it," was a reply Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia made to a question as to whether Senator Gorman was out of the Presidential race. He added that no statement can be made as to what Gorman will do. At the taken the additional step of sending out missionaries in behalf of Oiney, but beyond a declaration that its delegation will hold steadfastly to Wall, Wisconsin is making no formal attempt to bring any other States to his support at this stage.

The California delegation maintains its attitude that it will not waver in its support of Hearst, and confidently believes that when the name of their candidate is formally submitted by Mr. Delmas his eloquent petition will serve not only to hold all his instructed followers, but will serve to make it clear that without their aid the New York candidate cannot secure the mecassary two-thirds vote. In the meantime, the Parker adherents are calmly confident that no possible combination can now defeat him, and while offering no opposition to the casting of complimentary votes, contend that the avalanches will follow that action and that the second ballot will end the fight. The collapse of the Tammany opposition is also a matter of expressed satisfaction by those who have been leading the fight for Parker in the New York delegation.

NEW YORK HAHMONY.

TAMMANY COMES IN.

At a meeting of the Tammany leaders this morning, it was decided that all opposition to Judge Parker would be withdrawn. This decision will be given out definitely during the day, but is received now on the best of authority.

At an anti-Parker conference, a determined disposition was shown to make a test of strength on the first ballot, at least, before surrendering. It was claimed that even since the defection of Pennsylvania they will be able to control 160 votes more than the necessary third to prevent Parker's nomination, but many of them concede the impossibility of maintaining their full strength through many successive ballots, unless early inroads can be made upon the Parker stronghold. This danger is made evident by the conditions in the anti-Parker delegations. It is stated, for instance, that fully one-half the Kansas and Colorado votes will go to Parker on the first ballot, an I Maryland and West Virginia, which constitute the seat of Gorman's strength, are ready to go over to the New York candidate as soon as they can be released that, "in the opinion of this delegation, a plain statement should be included in the platform that the decision of the people on the money issue, as twice exemplified in two elections, should be the final settlement of the financial question and of vital importance in the next general election."

Cockran, in speaking to his resolution and urging its adoption, said that the financial question, as presented in the last two political platforms, had been discarded by the people, and that this decision should be the basis of the financial plank in the new platform.

George Raines of Rochester opposed Cockran's motion. He argued that there was no reason for an extremely radical course on the plank, and believed that the matter could be safely left in the hands of Senator Hill. hold their seats unless ousted by the action of the Committee on Credentials.

The decision of the sub-committee was based upon the ground that the State convenution was snupreme; that fights in the district actuarse are not proper matter for adjudication by the National Committee, and it is not the business of the National of the National committee, and it is not the business of the National of the Convention, as submitted to them. This shows that the Hopkins people are regularly accredited delegates, and because of this fact the sub-committee gave its verdict for them, and did not consider that it had any right to green the committee of the National Committee, made in the State.

This attitude of the National Committee, made in the State.

This attitude of the National Committee, made in the State.

The Harrison and Hearst men were greatly disheartened by their defeat, and amounced their intention of carrying the fight before the Committee on Credentials, and if beaten there, before the convention itself. This statement did not alarm the Hopkins people, who said that the argument that won for them before the National Committee would hold good before the Committee on Credentials, and if beaten there, before the convention also.

"It is all over," said John P. Hopkins. "We won, as I knew we would. There was, in fact, nothing else for the committee to do. What steps may be taken later will have no effect. Our delegates will remain just where the State convention seated them."

(Thorpe vs. Mutchell vs. Winnek, 117 Cal. 250.)

The Legislature of California cannot frame charters for cities free from the restraints of the Constitution of the State. And section s of article XI of the Constitution, from which alone the electors of cities derive their authority, expressly provides that charters framed by them shall be "consistent with and subject to the Constitution and laws of this State."

It was early held by the Supreme Court of this State, construing section 7 of article XI of the Constitution and laws of this State."

It was early held by the Supreme Court of this State, construing section 7 of article XI of the Constitution is a reenactment (People vs. Edwards, 32 Cal. 153.) and it has never been held otherwise, that where an officer is appointed or elected for a definite term, he cannot be removed from office at the pleasure of the appointing power. (People vs. Jewett. 6 Cal. 291; Patton vs. Board of Health, 127 Cal. 393.)

In the case of People vs. Jewett, Mr. Chief Justice Murray, speaking of this provision of the Constitution (Section 7, article XI, Const. 1849) said: "The obvious meaning of which is, that in those offices the term of which is not fixed by law, the incumbent may be removed at the pleasure of the appointing power; but where the tenure is defined, then the officer shall hold for his full term."

An officer holding an office for a fixed term may be removed from office, before the expiration of the term, for cause. But he cannot be so removed without a proceeding before some authority and defend.

The Constitution of California (Sections 17 and 18, article IV) provides that certain officers may be impeached by the Assembly and tried before the State Senate; and that "all other civil officers shall be tried for misdemeanor in office in such manner as the Legislature may provide." There cannot be under the Constitution, a removal from office for cause without a trial of the accused, and in which there shall be hearing and judgment. Says Mr. Justice Henshaw, in Morton y

Laist Proce REDDING, June 28, 1904.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Give me brief replies to following questions: (1) What method is used for precipitating copper in the "Laist process?" (2) If I am correctly informed the process is founded on a method used for saving sulphur. Is that information correct? (3) If correct, please give me an authority, and greatly oblige W. G. B. ANSWER: Your questions show that much knowledge of the "Laist process" is possessed by you as proven by your second question. The mere fact of a patent having been issued to the inventor should be sufficient. Replying to your questions:

(1.) Mr. Laist in "claim 1" sets forth "The herein described method of generating hydrogen sulphide and precipitating copper, which consists in subjecting an alkaline-earth sulphide suspended in water to the action of carbon dioxide. thereby generating hydrogen sulphide suspended in water to the action of carbon dioxide.

erating hydrogen sulphide and precipitating copper, which consists in subjecting an alkaline-earth sulphide suspended in water to the action of carbon dioxide, thereby generating hydrogen sulphide and precipitating the carbonate of the alkaline-earth metal. Conducting said hydrogen sulphide into the presence of copper in solution, thereby precipitating copper sulphide and forming a solvent liquid, substantially as described." In his patent the premise is, that carbonate of copper plus sulphuric acid equals copper sulphate and carbon dioxide, hence this is the first solvent. The main facts following are that with calcium sulphate (gypsum) as a base, hydrogen sulphide is formed. For many years metallurgists have known that the latter reagent precipitates copper, but on a commercial scale the manufacture and use of hydrogen sulphide was too expensive for practical paying results. Not so under Laist's method.

(2.) A glance at above stated facts proves that you are in error. The method you allude to is that whereby, in England, sulphur values are saved from gypsum, as sulphur.

(3.) "Chemical technology" is the reference you desire. The correctness of your question is unfairly put.

the above admixture. Mrs. Jonathan Dent, formerly one of the prominent women of Columbus, O., and for the last five years a resi-dent of Los Angeles, was burled yes-terday at Hollywood Cemetery, the ily residence, No. 2730 Wilshire boulevard.

Mrs. Dent was for many years foremost in all charitable and church work in Columbus, as well as serving as president of a Relief Corps of the G. A.R., and chairman of the principal charitable organization of that city, being a woman of noble and lofty type.

A touching incident of the funeral yesterday was that William Lott of Columbus, and father of Harry Lott, of Los Angeles, happened to be in the city, and took part in the services, having sung at the funeral of Mrs. Dent's mother some years ago. A quartette of male voices including, Mr. Gregg, Harry Lott, William Lott and Charless Edson, sang selections from "Elijah," Harry Lott singing a solo, "Oh, Rest in the Lord," and Mrs. Newman playing the "Funeral March" by Chopin.

Mrs. Dent came to make her home in Los Angeles just five years ago yesterday. Her husband, Jonathan Den, and two daughters, Miss Margaret and Miss Esther Dent, survive her.

Late last night the attendants at the Emergency and General Hospital stated that the chances were against her recovery.

Alleged Money Snatcher.

"Goldle" Harbert, a dope fiend, was arrested yesterday afternoon at the Santa Clara House on North Main street on a charge of grand larceny. Hairs to Fortune Found.

Mrs. Luther B. Wright and her daughter and son are heirs to a fortune in Florida, but didn't know it until yesterday. Mrs. Wright is the widow of an Ormana justice of the peace and was left without means at his death. The family came west, and a request from the Chicago police for their address led to a search, but no trace could be found. Yesterday Mrs. Mamie Kennedy of No. 727 West Second street informed Chief Hammel that Mrs. Wright had moved to San Francisco, and gave him her address. The Chief riegraphed the woman, being the first to inform her that she is financially independent for life.

Reckless Driver.

Reckless Driver.

The emergency tower of the Los Angeles Railway Company was driven recklessly up Main street last night, and it was no fault of the driver that a woman did not lose her life. A car going north on Main street stopped at the corner of Fourth and two ladies got off. The driver of the heavy wagon that carries the tower preszed right at the woman with the horses going at a rapid rate. One of the ladies ran behind the car, but the other neither saw nor heard the wagon until it was almost upon her, and in her bewilderment she fell to the street, the wheels pasing within a few inches of her. She was so frightened she could not speak.

In a Japanese restaurant at No. 215
North Wilmington street last night two Japs quarreled over a woman, and their friends taking up the fight, a pitched battle resulted in which six or eight of the little brown men sustained broken heads. Patroiman Walsh and Maranville went to the place, but even their appearance did not stop the fight until they made their presence felt by throwing several of the combatants to the floor and threatening to use their clubs on the others. One of the Japs drew a revolver, but was disarmed.
Before he could be caught, however, he sprang through a window and made his

"And was not there a lover in San Francisco?"
"Yes; it is true that we came down here to break up a match between Susie and Willie' Hiller. She had known the young man for over a year, and he has been badly in love with her, and wanted to get married. We did not object except that they were both too young. Willie' has a good position with a butcher by the name of Schults at the corner of Eddy and Pierce streets in San Francisco and lives at No. 1659 Turk street. His parents are nice people, and we thought that Susie had gone back to him; but this afternoon at 3 o'clock we received this telegram from Willie in response to one from us: 'No; I have not seen her. What is the trouble?' That telegram broke my heart, for now I do not know where she went or why.'

Mrs. Miller has not slept, since her daughter disappeared; is in a critically nervous condition and fears are entertained for her.

The father of Susie explained that since they came to Los Angeles she had been carefuly looked after. "Either I or, my son Matt met her every afternoon when she was off duly at the telephone company, and brought her home. We often noticed that she kept us waiting, and have since learned that it was to telephone to this fellow 'Harry,' of whom we can learn nothing."

Further inquiry at the telephone company disclosed that Millie Leach, an waiting, and have since learned that it was to telephone to this fellow 'Harry,' of whom we can learn nothing.''

Further inquiry at the telephone company disclosed that Millie Leach, an operator and intimate friend of Susie, saw her leave on the 8 o'clock train Sunday morning.

"I did not know that Susie was going to run away," said Miss Leach last evening, "but I could not understand her actions. Susie called up the Roosevelt at 6 o'clock in the morning, and her actions. Susie called up the Roosevelt at 6 o'clock in the morning, and the man disappeared before the officer could use his revolver. Owing seen only at a distance, no description of him could be secured. The manner in which the "bug" did his work was the same at all the surface of the Arcade depot, and Susie said that she was going to San Diero. When I tried to dissuade her by telling her that it would break her mother's heart, she said that she intended to write to her folks at once, and bought some paper and envelopes near the station. But when she paid for her ticket. Then when I told her that that was a long way round to San Diego, she said that she was going to San Diego, she said that she was going to San Diego, she said that she was going to San Prancisco to see some girls, and denied that she even expected to see her sweetheart. Yes, I saw the train leave, and I am sure that no one was with her."

It was a sad, sad story which Mrs. Miller told to a Times reporter yesterday afternoon—sad because Susie was a good girl of pretty ways and sunny disposition: a child at heart who loved to play with the little tots in the neighborhood where she lived; a girl who has been carefully brought up and who has never lacked a mother's love or parental guardianship.

"We could not bear to see this story published in the paper, and that is the reason we told the detectives that Susue had come home," said Mrs. Miller yesterday. "But now we have reached the verge of despair and are ready to tell the whole truth in the hope that it may help find her. This little picture

The original plan of providing for 1000 guests at the dinner will be maintained only because it is the limit of the house. The tickets were all taken at the close of last week and the demand has since been so great that an effort has been made by those in charge to secure the return of tickets which for any reason will not be used, in order that they may be transferred to those who are exceedingly anxious to attend, but thus far little or no progress has been made, as all ticket holders seem bent upon having a hand in the joyous occasion which comes but once in a lifetime.

Hazard's Pavilion has once more been transformed into a place of beauty in harmony with the anniversary to be commemorated. The background to the platform is formed of two large flags, but wherever "Old Glory" appears in other parts of the decorations it is in the form of handsome sunbursts; they fill the apexes, niches and corners, and that over the proscenium is supplemented with an artistic valance bearing the legend: "Progress, Peace, Prosperity." Beneath this are the portraits of Lincoln and Roosevelt with the evening's theme: "From Lincoln to Roosevelt," while the portraits of all the other Republican Presidents are hung on the wide face of the first balcony surrounding the banqueting tables.

On the platform a table extends entirely along the footlights for the speakers and the Executive Committee, and six smaller ones to the rear of the first one will accommodate the Reception Committee of fifty and invited guests. The main body will be seated at twenty-two tables which entirely fill the main floor.

To make sure that the music would be not a whit behind the other appointments, an orchestra of twenty pleces has been secured to take care of that part of the entertainment.

It has been arranged that all the guests shall assemble promptly at 7:30 this sevening in the balcony of the pavilion, where they may make themselves up into informal and congenial groups. At a signal all will march to the main floor and find seats at the tables.

There is a boating club already organized and under the leadership of Miss Margaret West, the president, who conducts boating and rowing affairs twice a month, when in the evening, if the moon is kind and lends the light of its beams, the members hie them to one of the parks and find fun and muscle in rowing the boats, in singing, in lunching, and in making Monthly picnics are very much the go, and if persons would like to know what California can afford in the way of a picnic lunch, when each girl what California can afford in the way of a picnic lunch, when each girl contributes 20 cents, they should have attended the patriotic picnic which the Y.W.C.A. gave last week at Eastlake Park, and numerated the special features of the elaborate menu, including even a change of plates from wooden for the first course to paper for the fruit and cake. City Attorney Mathews was yester-lay instructed by a resolution of the council to draw up an ordinance call-ing for an election for Councilman in the Sixth Ward. The date named is suguet 11—but wait!

This resolution was passed by the Council, acting under instructions from the City Attorney as to the supermethod of procedure with the mended recall petition which City lerk Lelande reported to have been signed by $62 electors of the Sixth Ward.

relectors had appeared on more than one petition.

That fourteen of the twenty-one petitions that go to make up the composite whole had been cut and pasted in a manner contrary to law.

That the statements on which the recall was based are untrue.

That a number of the signers of the affidavits had committed perjury in swearing to signatures about which they knew nothing, signatures that had been pronounced by his deputies to be palpable forgeries.

"None of those things are nominated in the recall," said Mr. Lelande, when saked why they had been left out. The charter prevision only says that I shall examine the signatures on the petition with those on the great register. My deputies have done so. They report that while in many cases signed indifferently, 502 names of electors in the Sixth Ward appear on the petition; there my work ends."

LEGAL ADVISER CALLED. When Lelande's report was read in Conneil McAleer moved that the City Attorney be sent for. "I am not just clear as to how we should proceed in this recall business." said McAleer. "I move that the City Attorney be invited to come in and tell us the law." Skilling seconded McAleer's motion. TO DISMISS SUITS.

NEW SPRINKLING ORDINANCE.
Litigation in the courts over compelling the street railway companies to sprinkle their rights of way with water came to an abrupt termination yesterday afternoon. The City Council repealed the ordinance under which the suits were brought.
Two suits were pending in the Superior Court, appealed by the railway, companies. Both were on missemeanor charges and warrants had been issued for the arrests of the directors of the railways.

Whether the railway companies will find, however, that they have leaped from the frying pan to the fire is a matter of conjecture. In place of the water wagon ordinance, which was repealed, the Council passed a second ordinance, a duplicate of the first, with the exception that oil is named as the sprinkling fluid instead of water. Oil is the more expensive of the two, but it is claimed that it will be cheaper in the end to sprinkle with oil, for the reason that not so many applications will be required. In fact, one coating of oil, properly placed, will last a season, while a spray of water lasts scarcely twenty-four hours.

The provisions of the new oiling ordinance are as follows:

"It shall be the duty of any person, firm or corporation operating cars over any railroad track or tracks, situate in the public streets of the city of Los Angeles, to sprinkle with oil the surface of each street occupied or used by said track or tracks, except such streets as are peaved with asphaltum, between the rails and for two feet on each side thereof, and between the tracks, if there be more than one in such manner, as at all times when cars are being operated over such railroad effectually to keep the dust laid on that part of the surface of such street iying between said rails and within two feet on each side thereof and between said tracks.

"Sec. 4—That ordinance No. 8812, approved November 5, 1903, and all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed."

This ordinance McAleer strongly opposed. He claimed that it was superfluous for the reason that the railway companies could be compelled to sprinkle with oil their right of way wherever the city sprinkled the rest of a street, ordinance or no ordinance.

McAleer also opposed the repeal of the sprinkling ordinance. "That ordinance is one of the best that we ever passed," declared McAleer. "It has been contested in the courts, but it has driven a number of railway magnates from the State to escape arrest. That ordinance will help us to compel the railway companies to sprinkle our paved streets. Our city is improving its streets all the time. Within five years we shall have forty or fifty miles of paved streets, it is only right that the railway companies should bear their share of the expense of sprinkling those streets. Streets cannot be sprinkled these streets. Streets cannot be sprinkled with oil. They must have water.

"Put this ordinance over a week. It has been sprung on us unawares. It does not come from the City Attorney. Let us examine closely and make sure that there is not a joker in the deck."

McAleer moved that the draft of the ordinance go over one week, but 'he motion received no second. Vote was then taken and the ordinance was adopted, only McAleer opposing its passage.

The railways have assured the Council that they will oil their tracks wher-

OUTFALL SEWER.

EDWARDS GETS CONTRACT.

To 8, J. Edwards of Pasadena yesterday was awarded the contract for building the outfall sewer from Los Angeles to the ocean. The price is $565,000. Of the eight bids submitted for building the sewer that of Edwards was lowest, and the Sewer Committee made a unanimous report in favor of its acceptance. Members of the committees from the Municipal League and the Chamber of Commerce, who had been making a quiet investigation as to whether the city could save money by building its own sewer, told the Councilmen at the noon luncheon that they were satisfied that it would be to the city's interest to accept the Edwards bid.

A number of contractors were in the lobby at the time the contract was let.

The garbage-gathering question, that perennial source of trouble, came in for a discussion. There were thirty-nine complaints of non-collection, and sections of the Sixth Ward were reported as receiving very poor service.

Fruit Inspector Drummond reported that he found in many cases old and used berry boxes were being used the second time to hold fruit, and that these boxes often were covered with mold, germs, and dirt. It was stated that frequently the boxes were recovered from garbage cans and sold to Chinamen for use sgain. The board will ask the City Council to amend the ordinance so as to prohibit the using of berry boxes the second time. Inspector Drummond's report showed that 2550 pounds of cherries had been condemned since the last mesting of the board.

The board discussed the smoke nuisance and decided to request the City Council to amend the ordinance so as to prohibit the use of anything lower than 34 per cent. distillate, and the use of larger flues, with arrangements for sweeping them at certain periods.

ance to the District Attorney in this city and county, and he has picked it up.

They say they will seil liquors where they piease, in "dry" districts or others, and as matters stand the meney and prestige of some large and influential breweries are piedged to support the industry facetiously knawn by the term of "running blind pigs."

The fight is on, and it is to be to a finish. It is but fair to say that the Maier & Zobelein brewery has not taken, and so far as can be learned, will take no part. The Los Angeles Brewing Company—asmetimes knewn as the Bast files Brewing Company—and the Anheuser-Busch Company of St. Louis, have put out a special brew for temperance districts, which is claimed to be mon-intusticating.

The Anheuser brand of tipple is labeled "Birney for Company"s product is labeled "Birney Harmless, a Temperance liew," both having on the label a certification that the stuff in the bottle contains only 3 per cent, of alcohol. The question at issue is whether anyone can and does acquire a fully-developed jag on these beverages. The District Attorney takes the stand that it is merely a mathematical proposition; that as ordinary beer contains only 5 per cent, of alcohol, a man has only to swallow double the amount of the "temperance brew" and the jag will be I per cent. In excess of the old-time brand. The capacity of a man to hold a double quantity of anything in the alcoholic way does not figure as a fact at all, for to a steady drinker the slower acquirement of the sottish feeling he is after is rather attractive, and the brewers make double money, so the "temperance frew" is liable to become popular.

The first shot in this campaign has been fired by the District Attorney against A. W. Caldwell at Fomona. He runs a billiard room and has been selling these "temperance" drinks on the side.

it will depreciate the value of the two adjacent properties alone more that aftern properties alone more that that amount. This district has been sprung on us without giving us sufficient warning of what was coming. Give us a week's time in which to prepare for it, and we feel convinced that we can show you where you are making a mistake."

Attorney R. J. Dillon, representing the undertakers, said that the district includes only property down on section. "Go price property down on South Grand avenue," he went on "and you will quickly discover that 4th is held as business property. When my clients bought that land, there was no question as to whether they had a right to place an undertaking parlor there. There was no district in the city barred to them except the heart of the business section, where the rents are prohibitive."

McAleer said that the Committee or, Legislation had vielted the site of the Cunningham & O'Connor location three different times, and that they had come to the conclusion that it was within the business district. He said the property owners had made their argument against the morgues in the committee room, and that the committee had acted after considering it.

TO PURCHASE MACHINES.

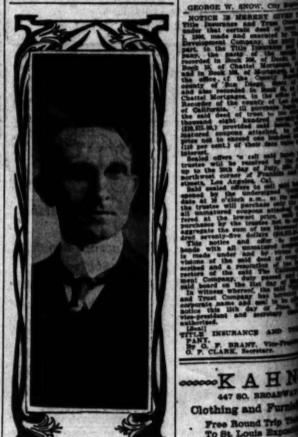

Two additional street sweeping machines are to be purchased by the city for use on paved streets. On motion of Councilman Nofsiger, the City Clerk was yesterday instructed to advertise for bids for new machines. It is contended the promised never to attempt to deprive his wife of the custody of the cierk to purchase two more machines from the same company. McAleer objected, and after a short discussion the Council decided to advertise for bids.

SOME GOOD CATCHES MADE IN THE DOUBLE HOLIDAY.

Reappearance of Big Corbina at Ocean Park Wharf Delights the Resident Fishermen—Alamites Bay Proves Productive—Big Catches of Bass—Good and Bad Luck.

If all the fishermen who made use of their recent double holiday could be gathered together on one street, they would have looked like Kuroki's army in disguise. Crowds of rodsters performed casting and other stunts at all the nearer beaches, while small parties of the adventurously inclined aied themselves to remoter resorts on parties of the adventurously inclined aled themselves to remoter resorts on prospecting tours, which were mostly crowned with all manner of success. Catches on the whole were quite up to average, and in some favored spots the luck was better than usual.

The reappearance of big corbina at Ocean Park delighted hundreds of rodsters, who preëmpted the wharf at that point. Sunday perhaps a dozen weighing from three to six pounds were taken; on the Fourth the average was about one big "surf" to every twenty angiers, but at that several fine specimens were landed. Greenhorns verified the piscatorial adage that in fishing there's luck, the big fellows apparently playing no fancy tackle favorites, but greedily affixing themselves to the first gob of clam that tickled their stubby noses.

Bass were at home off the San Pedro breakwater and some large ones were engineered safely through the kelp. A party which went out from Ocean Park in a launch and trolled thirty-five miles up the coast caught over 125 bass, averaging at least four pounds.

East San Fedro, the inner harbor, and both Terminal wharves were well narronized, but unproductive both days. Redondo and Playa Del Rey were crowded but few fish were taken. Some of the angiers had downright hard Juck. Otto and Edward Neisser each got a big corbina at Ocean Park Sunday and repeated the feat on the Fourth. The biggest weighed six pounds. Abe Greenbaum got one of five and one-fourth pounds Monday; S. Lindensted who never fished before in his life connected with two, pulled the head off one and thanks to Simon Spier whose fishing blood was up, saved the other. It was a beauty of nearly five pounds weight.

Joe Spear on Monday threw a three and a half pounder and a fit out on Ocean Park wharf.

Max Lowenthal landed a corbina of four and one-half pounds the evening of the Fourth at Ocean Park. Another angler mamed Jacoby caught its maie weighing half accoby caught in the success of the court of the court at Ocean Park.

Sunday.

Len Conklin and a party of seven armed with rods, handlines and jigs left Ocean Park at 1 o'clock Sunday morning for Hueneme in the launch Tempest. They returned at 4 o'clock the same afternoon with 129 bass and four barracuda, the prettiest catch ever brought into the place. The fish weighed from three to eight pounds. Simon Spier tried a while for big surf off the wharf at Ocean Park but had to confine his joy to landing fish for others. His luck seems limited to the beach.

LADIES' CRUISE.

SOUTH COAST FLEET BACK. The cruise of the South Coast Yacht Club, which ended last evening, was especially distinguished by the fact that a larger number of ladies patronized it than has ever been known be-fore in these waters. The fleet left Avaion on signal Trom Commodore Jenkins at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and as there was a light wind from the east all slackened away their from the east all slackened away their sheets and set spinnakers for a run to the Isthmus. There was some idea of staying over last night in that quarter, but when about fourteen miles had been sailed the leading craft caught the first of the southwesterly trade winds and all shaped their course for the home waters at San Pedro. The Venus and the Mischief, which had passed the cruisers in the drift before the east wind, were the first to catch the afternoon breeze, so these got a long start. The Venus get something like two miles start of the Mischief, and between these two there was a hot passage. The Mischief hoisted her balloon jib and gained considerably on her smaller rival. At the end of the breakwater the Venus was timed by the writer at 3:55:00 and the Mischief at 3:56:40. The little "A2," meaning Venus, came bowling in to the piers at San Pedro with her boat on the windward decks and looking extremely like a small Columbia. In the beam wind passage from the breakwater to a point inside the piers there did not seem to be a gain for either boat, as they were checked off from The Times Observatory on Beacon street, San Pedro, as follows: Venus, 4:18:10; Mischief, 4:17:50. The other boats passed outside Dead Man's Island to the moorings on the Pacific side of Terminal Island, so their times sheets and set spinnakers for a run to could not be taken. The Marie was one of these, and her performance could not be recorded, as she was too far off to be identified.

The cruising yawl Minerva made the quickest run home, as was predicted in these columns. She got the wind about haif an hour or more behind the leaders, and she passed the same timing point between the piers in San Pedro at 4:40:00, so that she made the trip in at least 6 min. 50 sec. faster than the Mischief.

The Seabird, Edna, Katrina, Partola, and the firgship Nautilus all anchored outside. The performance of the Minerva so pleased her owner that he intends to enter her against the flyers of Class A as soon as the boat can be put on the ways for cleaning. Her water line is about 27 feet, and as yawls run at 85 per cent. of their rac-

Her water line is about 27 feet, and as yawls run at 85 per cent, of their racing length as against single-masted vessels, the owner thinks there is a good chance for the cruiser if the wind blows hard enough. Mr. Ross, who salled on the Minerva, said that although the regular racers could get away from the yawl when the latter was carrying uo kites, it might be different if the Mischief had to put in a single reef.

TRUST ERA CHECKED. Remarkable Falling-off in the Listle

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.)

NEW YORK, July 5 .- A tremendou REW YORK, July 5.—A tremendous falling off in new capital stock creations is shown by comparison of the securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange during the last six months and the listings for the corresponding and the listings for the corresponding period for a series of years. That the trust era has come to a standstill is best shown by the listing of new stocks. During the last six months there were listed only $41,87,200, compared with $290,967,435 for the same period of 1900, $315,853,859 in 1902 and $1,273,857,575 in 1901, when the trust creation movement was at its height.

The average of the first six months of the five years preceding 1901 showed new stock creations of about $325,000,000, and in the first six months of 1895 there were created $38,092,970 of new stock which was listed on the exchange.

The record for the entire country would record for the entire country would have been notably better had every city of importance celebrated Independence Day as sanely and safely as did Los Angeles. Not one serious accident, no "smash-ups" on the street-railway lines which handled enormous crowds, and no fires of great consequence. Los Angeles may well be proud of her record and the country at large is to be congratulated upon the manifest tendency toward Fourit of July sanity.

It is hardly reasonable to suppose that, under any American constitution, an officer whose term of office is definitely fixed can be removed from office before the expiration of his term merely by a popular vote, and without having charges preferred against him without meeting his accusers, and without being given an opportunity to defend himself against those charges. The law of the land is expressly constructed to provide against an instructed to provide against an injustice of this kind and to protect public officials against the onslaughts of personal enemies who might, through personal malice and by devious methods, influence the popular vote against him. vote against him.

DOOSEVELT'S RUNNING MATE

SOME CHARACTERISTICS OF SENATOR FAIRBANKS.

President McKinley Valued His Advice Highly—Started Out in Life as Carpenter and Then Went to College—Ambitious to Make a

[New York Tribune:] The nomina-ion of Senator Fairbanks for the Vice-Presidency has served to recall the fact that the senior Senator from Indiana was one of President McKinley's most trusted advisers in the try-ing days which preceded the Spanish ing days which preceded the Spanish War, and on many occasions in that brief but stirring period. It was com-monly reported that "Mark Hanna slept at the White House," just be-fore war was declared, but Senator Hanna himself described the actual situation—to the writer and several other newspaper men on one occasion last winter. He said: "Boys, if President McKinley had been in need of advice on a business question he would have sent for me, beyond a doubt, but in those days I was of no use to him, and the truth is, I did not go near the White House, sometimes, for an entire week. The men on whom President McKinley depended, and none knew better how to pick his men, were Senator Fairbanks and John Spooner. Both have been earnest students of international law, and both are clear and logical thinkers, although Fairbanks seldom expresses an opinion, except in confipresses an opinion, except in confi-dence."

It is related of the Vice-Presidential candidate, as characteristic of the man, that when he accepted the election to the Senate, which was the first public office he ever held, he absolutely abandoned his law practice. He had been a corporation attorney of exceptional ability, and had amassed a small fortune in his proression; but once ne assumed the obligations of a United States Sen-ator and her sons, and even those not refused to accept any more cases, al-though there is a well authenticated instance of his having been offered a $25,000 retainer in a case in which the ago, the retaints of the future Vice-President, and there is certainly none more beloved by her family and friends. She is idolized by the Senator and her sons, and even those not related to but who have had the privilege of learning to know her are expensively in their praises of the expensions. related to but who have had he privilege of learning to know her are extravagant in their praises of the accomplished president of the Daughters of the Revolution. Senator Fairbanks, while of calm and undemonstrative exterior, is really a man of much sentiment, and to his friends he sometimes speaks beautifully of the partner of his joys and sorrows. He met her at Ohio Wesleyan Universital of which he is both an alumnus and a trustee, and he has always retained a particular fondness for the institution for that reason. When the Senator first went to the university, Joseph Benson Foraker, now Senator from Ohio, was also a student there, although, being older, he was in a more advanced class. The two Senators often get together and talk over their college days at Delaware.

Delaware. WORKED HIS WAY. Senator Fairbanks is peculiarly of the type of men who reach high positions in this country. Starting a poor boy, he worked hard on the farm in his early days. Later he becam in his early days. Later he became a carpenter, but found himself ill fitted for a trade. He then went to college, and then to Piftsburgh, and became a newspaper reporter, and, notwithstanding the arduous and exacting duties of that occupation, he found, or made, the time to study law, and was soon admitted to the bar. Then he went to Indianapolis, and there built up a lucrative practice, his suave, manner, but retifeent and there built up a lucrative prac-tice, his suave manner, but reticent habit, serving him in excellent stead in that profession, Probably no man in the Senate is more punctilious about the little amenities of life than

Senator Fairbanks, and not even the senator Fairbanks, and not even the most pertinacious newspaper man can say that he was ever treated rudely by the Senator from Indiana. In fact, Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge are both noted for the kindness and consideration with which they "turn down" the seeker for news when circumstances compel them to refuse information.

Senator Fairbanks's friends always complain that he is too modest, and there is much truth in the charge. His speech on the Panama situation in the Senate last winter was one of the most comprehensive and ablest discussions of the case presented, but his manner of delivery, which was the reverse of assertive, prevented its being appreciated at its full value, and some Senators who spoke later did not hesitate to borrow from Mr. Fairbanks's ideas, but they expressed themselves with so much more confidence and vehemence that few recognized the source of their information. The Senator is a great reader and a The Senator is a great reader and a widely cultured man, possessing an unusually thorough grasp on a wide diversity of subjects, but, notwithstanding this fact, he seldom advances an opinion without a qualifying clause which invariably detracts from the strength of his assertions. IN ANOTHER MAN'S HAT.

The day that Senator Fairbanks changed hats with Senator "Billy" The day that Senator Fairbanks changed hats with Senator "Billy" Mason of Illinois, a couple of years ago, was one of the saddest in the Indianian's memory. It is not often that "the laugh" is directed toward him, but when he searched the cloak rooms in vain for his "tile." and could only find a hat three sizes too large, and then had to pass through the corridors and along the streets with that monstrous coal scuttle over his ears, he made a fine stage picture, and his brother Senators did not forget to make the most of their opportunity. Mason had seized Fairbanks's hat, and as he did not try to put it on immediately failed to notice the mistake until half an hour later, when the man from Indiana was on his homeward, laugh-making way. As Senator Fairbanks stalked out of the Capitol with Mason's hat sagging down on his collar at the rear, four or five of his grave Senatorial confreres struck up a loud whistling of "Where Did You Get That Hat?" When he passed out of the front door a small newsboy yelled to one of his fellows: "Get onto the lid! See de big guy what's swiped a roof." But Senator Fairbanks's dignity, which seldom, if ever, deserts him, stood him in good stead at this great crisis, and he proceeded on his homeward way apparently oblivious of all outside conditions. But he did not wear the Mason "tile" back to the Senator East and the Senator Mason, Senator the mason the back to the senate next day. A measenger restored the hat to Senator Mason, Senator Fairbanks putting in an appearance soon afterward in a brand new cover-

"I could tell you numerous stories "I could tell you numerous storfes about faro banks, but none about Fairbanks," remarked a treasury official.
"I hope you will print this play upon the next Vice-President's name right away, I honestly believe that I am the inventor of the pun, and would like to see it published with proper credit marks attached before any of the Democratic spellbinders use it. They are sure to jump on it sooner or later, you know, and if we say it first it will lose half its sting."

Senator Fairbanks is fond of life at the seashore, but its allurements once nearly consigned him to political at the seashore, but its allurements once nearly consigned him to political oblivion. The incident happened a few years ago at the close of the long session of Congress, when he fied from the hot city to enjoy the cooling breezes of the Atlantic Coast, where he naturally took a plunge in the suff. But out on the Wabash, where surging billows do not roll, all the good farmers and housewives are -not used to the sight of a bathing costume, especially of the dimensions usually rented at the seaside, which are not calculated for persons of Mr. Fairbank's anatomical attenuation. It banks anatomical attenuation. It happened that a New Jersey photog-rapher took a picture of the Indiana statesman exhibiting all the short-comings of his attire, and some In-diana enemies of his got hold of it diana enemies of his got hold of it and sent it home. The quiet Indianian a few days later received a telegram from friends announcing that photographs of him disporting in public places in diaphanous clothes, with excessively low neck, no sleeves and very few knickerbockers, were being circulated in the State and records. circulated in the State and people sealed, and sure horrified. Mr. Fairbanks caught the next train for home and aught of Commerce the next train for home, and after-ward admitted that if an election had occurred before his arrival and his justification his public career would have ended then.

It is seldom that both husband and wife attain leadership in statecraft, but Senator Fairbanks and his wife, the president general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, long ago achieved this distinction. Mrs. Fairbanks has been twice unanimously elected head of that patriotic organization, the con-stitution itself having been amended to give her that honor. As a clever and astute tactician her ability was notably demonstrated at the national congress of the organization, two congress of the organization, two years ago. Mrs. Desha, of Kentucky, founder of the organization, questioned a ruling of the chair. "The motion was clearly out of order," promptly announced Mrs. Fairbanks. "But, Madame Chairman," protested the delegate, somewhat surprised, "it is in accordance with your ruling at the last congress. I am simply following your ruling there." "That's where your ruling there." "That's where your ruling there." "That's where your ruling there."

HOTEL OWNER NEARLY KILLED.

LONG BEACH, July 5.—J. V. Bartow, a well-known citizen and owner of the Dei Mar Hotel, narrowly escaped death at noon today by an electric car. Mr. Bartow is lying at home with severe injuries, and his buggy is knocked into splinters.

Bartow lives at No. 1129 American avenue. He was in his buggy ren route home to lunch. He was engrossed in thought, and as he neared home mechanically pulled on the reins and turned across the Pacific electric track directly in front of an incoming car. The motorman blew an alarm, and threw on the air, but the distance was too short, and the car struck the buggy fairly smashing it to splinters. Bartow, recalled to his senses by the shriek of the whistle, jumped as the car struck, and allighted in the road, where he lay stunned. His family heard the crash and hastened to Bartow's relief. He was carried into the house and Dr. Donnell summoned. He found Bartow in great pain, and suffering considerably from the shock. There is a severe cut on the right leg and his wrist seems to be sprained. The worst injury is to his left leg. The knee cap is cut open and is apparently fractured, in which case it will be serious, and may result in a stiff knee.

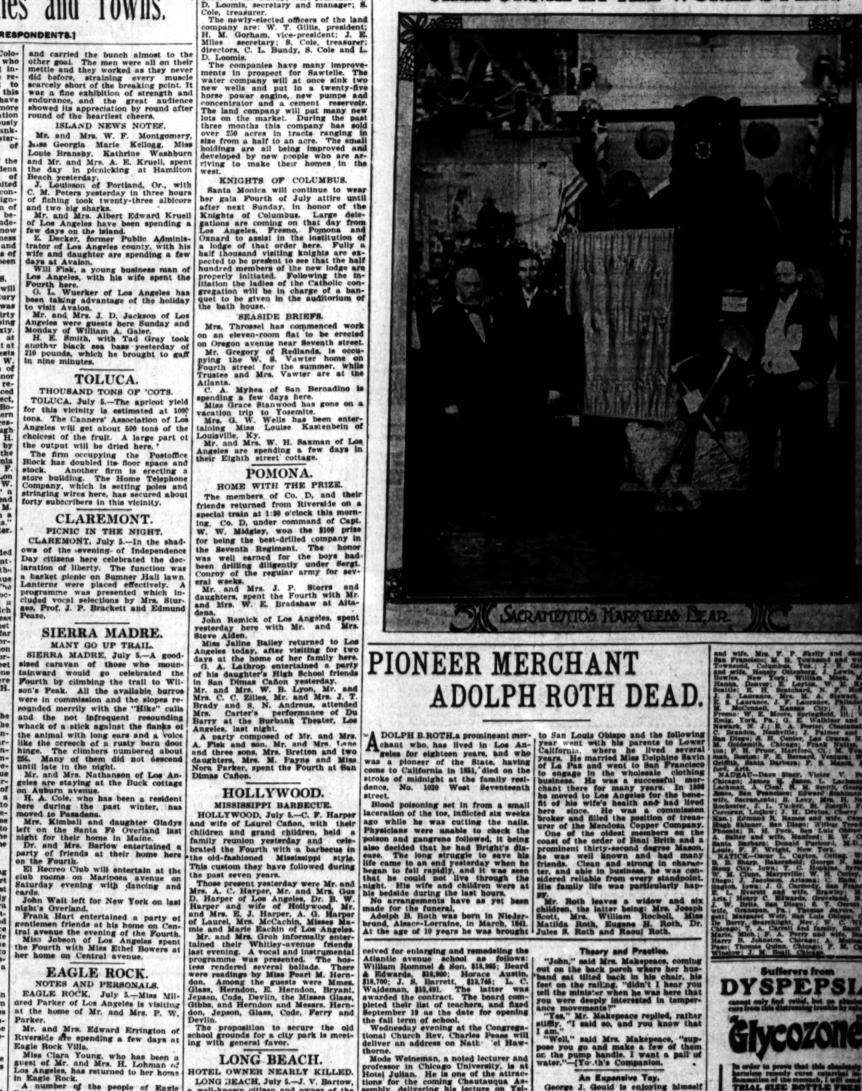

SWIMMER A HERO.

Prof. James Barry, former swimming teacher at the plunge, returned to Long Beach this morning from Ventura, unconscious of the fact that he had proven himself a hero yesterday while en route home on the steamer Bonita. Three drunken men attempted to climb down a ladder from the steamer Bonita as the boat entered San Pedro Harbor, and one man lost his footing and fell between the steamer and the wharf. The Bonita swung out at the time, which is all that saved the fellow from being crushed to d.ath. Barry was on the wharf, and without hesitation jumped after the crowning man, not stopping to disrobe. The victim weighed 200 pounds and Barry had a hard-struggie with him. He succeeded in swimming to a piling with his charge, where a rope was thrown to him, which he fastened to the victim, who was then towed ashore. Then Barry went and changed his wet clothes.

OF LESSER NOTE. The school trustees of the Long Beach district reorganised yesterday. H. L. Enloe succeeding Charles H. Thornberg, who declined reflection. S. Heller was reflected president, and Dr. J. W. Wood, clerk. Five bids were reCALIFORNIA AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Why He Doesn't Smoke.

Senator Bates of Tennessee, is a passionate lover of tobacco, yet the cigar he carries in his mouth is always unlighted. No, he is not taking the cure; he explains it in this way:

"It seems that during the war Senator (then Gen.) Bates was riding by his side of his brother during a battle. He felt the longing for a 'smoke' coming on, and so drew a fine flavored Havana from his pocket. He scratched a match against the saddle, and was about to light a weed, when a shell whizzed suddenly by, and the quick rush of air accompanying the shell put the match out. He was about to strike another, when, turning, he discovered that the shell had made its mark, for there lay the dead body of his brother. To this day he has a sort of superstition regarding lighted cigars, and this explains why he only indulges in a 'dry smoke.' "—[Peoria Observer,

An Expensive Tsy.

George J. Gould is enjoying himself at Lakewood these days. His young son Jay has had a miniature of the Missouri Pacific Railroad system laid out on the grounds of Georgian court and passes many hours sending trains on a steel track drawn by a 51000 locomotive that his father gave him as a Christmas present. I haven't seen the pretty toy, but I recall the remark of Henry Clews when we were discussing an article in one of the newspapers criticising George Gould for spending 51000 on a plaything.

"Nobody can find any fault with the gift of a toy engine," said he. "I have bought many a piece of paper from George's father with a picture of a locomotive on it that brought me sorrow instead of amusement—and wasn't worth nearly as much, aithough it cost me a great deal more."

The six leaders in the last printed acore retain their relative positions. Lula Briant is still at the head of the procession with a score now bordering close on 20,000.

WITH THE PRESENTATION OF THE PARTY OF THE PA

Miss Omar Burns of Rediands is coming up at a rate that justifies the prediction that she will be one of the top-notchers before the contest is many days older,
Miss Lyon of Long Beach is making steady progress and will be giving Leigh Smith of the same town a run for his money very soon.

Bertha, Wilson's jump from thirty-fourth to twenty-fourth place was the biggest gain of the day. Miss Wilson's chances are steadily growing brighter.

tablished. It is hardly probable that two work as a charm this year. He slipped back three pegs more in the score yesterday.

Nat Browne's campaign has been a little slow in getting under way, but he is making such progress now that he may be expected to become one of the Solid Six, possibly one of the Big Fiv2, within a very short time.

Passine Scholz of Sawtelle is doing about as much hustling as anybody, and is making a host of friends among the old soldiers at the National Home, Her jump from twelfthe to eighth place yesterday was a neat performance.

Frank Brooks of Santa Barbara has been keeping very quiet for the last few days, and has fallen back a few numbers in the score. The race between him and Nat Browne is a pretty even one, and it will be interesting to see whether the Ventura or the Santa Barbara candidate will come out ahead.

Hausel Burke's skip from twenty-first to twelfth place shows that her carefully laid plans are beginning to take effect. Al Levy and a few other brother Elks gave Miss Burke a boost twesterday and she scored a net gain of the bunch stolen from Miss Dehm-tower, and it is hoped her sympathizers will make up the loss to her, with interest.

Alva Odell has gained eight numbers, although still near the bottom of the list.

Leola Moore's home is at Whittler, but she has been staying for some time with her cousin on Toberman street. She expects to get much as sistance from her home town.

made an attack upon one of the prisms because she imagined him to be her enemy.

The girl's story is a sad one. She was brought to this city from her home in Mexico by a family who had held out to her glittering promises of success in this country. Upon her arrival here she found herself wholly unequipped to struggle for a living, and her friends were unable to support her. She secured employment, but was unable to hold her place, owing to the fact that she was not familiar with the ways of the country. She was finally obliged to appeal to charitable persons of her own nationality. She was sessisted by a family residing on Avenue 22, but there being seven children, she could not live at their house. Her troubles so worned her that she became melancholy and then violently-insane. The physicians say that her linsanity is the result of worry and lin-proper and insufficient nourishment.

Today the girl will be sent to the County Hospital, where a lunacy commission will examine her. It is possible that certain wealthy Mexicans will have her sent back to her own people. County rooms will examine her. It is possible that certain wealthy Mexicans will have her sent back to her own people. Her case is considered hopeless.
